OPENING DAY CONGRESS SPURS EMBARGO ON ARMS SHIPMENTS TO SPANISH CIVIL WAR ZONE

TO WALK OVER GOLDEN GATE IS CLOSE CLIMAX

Appeal Of History Is To Be Realized On Pedestrian Day Planned For Bridge Opening

Since white men first saw the strait which connects our bay with the ocean, it has appealed to their imagination, and General Fremont made that appeal articulate when he named it the Golden Gate—one of the splendid geographical names of the world. Next May the lintel over the Golden Gate will be completed, the bridge opened to traffic with a great festival.

Supervisor Arthur M. Brown, Jr., has suggested that before the bridge is opened to automobiles, pedestrians be given the opportunity to walk its length, to study the greatest suspension span at close range and leisure, to view the Golden Gate from above. Seagulls have few privileges enjoyed by man, but one of them has been to look at the entrance to the bay from the air. A "Pedestrian Day" for the Golden Gate bridge would give the public the privilege of a bird.

Financial Problems Beset New Assemblage Led By Democratic Majority

Combining traditional ceremonies with the easy informality of a family reunion, Congress opened, Tuesday of this week, and prepared to tackle its first task of 1937—legislation slapping a swift embargo on arms shipments for civil war in Spain.

Administration leaders of both houses introduced immediately a resolution, had it referred at once to waiting committees and pushed it through with all possible speed to cut off a $2,300,000 cargo of airplanes intended for the Madrid loyalists.

RACE TO LEAD

Robert Cuse, Jersey City exporter, was racing to load the airplanes aboard a steamer at New York before Congress can act, State Department officials said. They also disclosed that a second munitions dealer, Richard L. Dineley of San Francisco, was planning to ship $4,507,000 worth of planes, rifles, machine guns and ammunition to the loyalists.

Both Cuse and Dineley have obtained export licenses from the State Department, which though opposed to granting them is powerless under the present neutrality law.

CONGRESS OPENS

Reverend J. S. Montgomery, Chaplain of the House of Representatives, is pictured as he participated in ceremonies that marked the opening of the 75th United States Congress in Washington, D. C. The new Congress will be called upon to face national labor problems and international war strife. This Soundphoto was transmitted direct from Washington to San Francisco over telephone wires.

INTERNATIONAL CAVALCADES TO MEET IN FIESTA

Caravans Of Representatives From Canada and Mexico To Celebrate Golden Gate Bridge Opening In May

Mobilization of two international cavalcades—one from Mexico and the other from Canada—to participate in the Golden Gate Bridge Fiesta upon the opening of the Golden Gate Bridge here next May was projected this week by the general chairman, in approving plans advanced by the Redwood Empire Association.

A chairman of celebrations has been appointed as head of a committee to arrange for the cavalcades and the dedication of the bridge in Marin County. This committee will consist of representatives from Canada, Mexico, Washington, Oregon and other States and from every county in California. The personnel of the committee will be announced later.

BRIDGE CLOSES GAP

The idea of the cavalcades fits in logically with the fiesta, because the Golden Gate Bridge closed the last major water barrier and offers a continuous system of highways between Canada and Mexico via San Francisco and the Redwood Empire along the northern coast of California.

En route each cavalcade will pick up delegates from various cities and counties. For example, the cavalcade originating in Canada will start out with invited dignitaries and public officials, the Royal Northwest Mounted Police in full regalia, native Indians in costume and dog teams

DALY CITY MAN SHOT IN GUN FEUD NEW YEAR EVE FOUGHT AT FILLMORE STREET TAVERN

Resort Keeper Kills Employee After Quarrel Over Red Haired Lady Friend

Settimo Angelini, 39, Daly City resident, was shot and killed New Year eve following a quarrel in a Fillmore street tavern.

Sought for murder, Joe Rosellini, owner of the inn, at 3231 Fillmore street, surrendered to San Francisco police at the North End Station, Tuesday of this week.

Still missing was Angelini's unidentified red haired woman companion, over whose attentions the fatal quarrel was believed to have started.

She had been seen frequently with Angelini, but her identity could not be fixed by persons who knew the two men. However, rumor has it that she attended funeral services held for deceased at the mortuary chapel of W. C. Lasswell & Co., Monday morning of this week.

FRIENDS FOR YEARS

The victim and Rosellini had been friends for many years. At intervals Angelini had tended bar for the tavern proprietor.

The quarrel that led to the tragedy was a brief, violent flareup, police were told by Joseph Alman, 672 Minna street, a waiter in the place. He was the only one present when the shooting occurred.

He said Angelini left the girl at the inn, talking to Rosellini, but came

State Legislature Again In Session

The state Legislature opened its fifty-second session, Monday of this week, at Sacramento, to face a state deficit of $40,000,000, a general fund budget of over $431,000,000, and hundreds of bills, many of which will result in hot political disputes.

With Democrats in control of the Assembly by a margin of 47 to 33 and Republicans holding the Senate with 15 of the 25 seats, legislative observers predicted the session would be a battlefield for domination by the two political parties.

ORGANIZE NEW COUNTY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS

Considerable Talk Of Har- mony Indulged In After Sending Word To County Executive He Will Not Be Re-Employed

The newly elected members, together with two holdover members, met, Monday of this week at noon, and organized the new San Mateo County Board of Supervisors.

H. H. Smith, Daly City, was unanimously elected as chairman. With him were seated Fred E. Beer, San Mateo; John W. Poole, Redwood City; James J. James, Burlingame, and Alvin S. Hatch, Half Moon Bay.

The Redwood City Tribune was, by resolution unanimously adopted, designated as the official newspaper for the ensuing year.

The first act of the new board was the adoption of a resolution notifying Walter T. Kellogg, county executive, that he would not be considered by the board for reappointment after expiration of his term in May.

All members of the body, on being called on by the chairman, delivered themselves of an oration on harmonious relations between members

Local Interest In Safety Drive

Intense interest in a county wide highway safety drive has developed in Daly City from several important angles. Local traffic killings and injuries have given an impetus to officials and organizations to seriously undertake the curbing of careless and fast driving.

Mayor Paul Selmi called a special council meeting, Monday evening of this week, to propose and initiate strong legal action against traffic violators. The Daly City Merchants Association, two evenings later, appointed a committee to plan an educational safety program.

TO ATTEND MEET

Local officials and the merchants committee will attend the county meeting at Redwood City called for 7:30 p. m., Tuesday evening of next week, to inaugurate a county wide drive for highway safety.

SOUTH S. F. FIRE

Starting in a box of dried mushrooms, flames swept through the kitchen and living room of the home of J. DiBasilio, 242 Ninth lane, Saturday of last week, causing damages estimated at $800.

Progressive Daly City Resident Dies

"From dust thou art to dust returneth was not spoken of the soul."

Perhaps the late Herbert Franklin Secor is gone in person, but the pioneering spirit with which he lived shall continue to manifest itself in progressive society.

Secor came to Daly City in 1907. The town site at that time was only rolling hills and green grass. The pioneer camped outside while his Los Olivos home was being constructed.

For thirty years an employee at the White House in San Francisco, Secor was an active local citizen. He was a member of Crocker Lodge 454, F. & A. M., and belonged to the Veteran Firemen Association. He captained Fire Company No. 2 for eight years.

Two Highway Deaths Start 1937 Toll

Life was snuffed out of Mrs. Frances Austafson, 54, San Francisco, Saturday afternoon of last week, in a head on automobile accident on Bayshore highway in South San Francisco.

The accident occurred at Grand avenue and Bayshore. Mrs. Austafson was riding in a car operated by her husband, George Austafson, who incurred minor injuries. The victim died from head injuries a few minutes after she arrived at the South City Hospital.

GARDENER KILLED

Another traffic fatality occurred when an unidentified hit run motorist struck Frank R. Joseph, 58, gardener at Sisters of Mercy Convent, 2750 Adeline drive, Burlingame, New Year Day at 2:30 a. m.

MANGLED BODY FOUND

Driving north on El Camino Real, J. G. Roberts, San Francisco motorist, saw the horribly mangled body of Joseph lying in the road. He stopped his car in such manner as to protect the body from being run over by the few cars abroad in the slight rain.

An unidentified citizen telephoned Officer Al Marion and Sergeant J. J. Hartnett, who removed the body from the road and began an investigation that as yet has not resulted in apprehension of the hit run driver.

The car, assertedly the one which hit Joseph, was found abandoned in a driveway near Mills avenue. The automobile, blood spattered and with a broken headlight, and fender dents, was held by officers at an El Camino Real garage away from public view as officers pressed their probe.

In launching their 1937 program of activities the Daly City Merchants Association, at a regular meeting Wednesday evening of this week, delegated duties of five special projects to committees.

An independent Daly City post office, safety drive, Christmas street lighting for 1937 holidays, membership campaign, publicity program and entertainment features make up a five-fold activity project for the coming year.

New officers were installed at the Wednesday evening meeting. Ernest Milo succeeded W. E. Pitschke as president of the association. P. Petersen, Albert Boynton, and Charles Williamson retained their positions as vice president, business manager and financial secretary. C. 40c Bridge Toll Up To Legislature Proposed, Monday of this week, at the opening session of the fifty-second California Legislature was a flat 40c a car toll for the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge—25c under the prevailing rate.

A San Francisco assemblyman said he hoped a resolution embodying his proposal would be adopted soon after lawmakers selected leaders and moved into legal action.

It was said on good authority that the RFC would reduce the interest rate on the bridge bonds below the 4 per cent fixed in the original contract between the state and federal government.

If that is done, it is figured that the toll could be brought down to 50c, even if other interest rates are not lowered.

RATE SLASH

Effective February 1, the toll rate on the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge will be slashed from its present 65 cents to 50 cents, Governor Frank F. Merriam announced Wednesday.

The reduction, the governor said, was made possible by action of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, holder of the bridge bonds, in reducing the bond interest rate.

FAMOUS COLTS HEAD OUR WAY NEXT YEAR

By J. W. MARCHBANK

Glancing over the long list of nominations to the first running of the Tanforan Futurity in 1938 demonstrates the wide interest in California racing. Naturally all of the leading stallions standing in the West have representatives in the two year old race; Eastern stock horses also have many sons and daughters eligible to the rich event.

I note such names as Gallant Sir, young son of the ever popular Sir Gallahad III; Time Maker, sire of the high class Time Supply; the imported gray Sir Greysteel; Ladkin, a Fair Play horse that defeated the invading Epinard in an international match; the fleet Macaw, recently moved out to California from Kentucky; Trojan, son of the California bred Sir Wilfred; the Bradley Blue Larkspur, one of "America's greatest race horses," according to his owner; Buddy Bauer, also a product of Idle Hour; the Whitney Chicle; the ten year old Whichone, a son of the Spearmint horse; Wise Counselor, coming down from a wonderful line; Pompey, a worthy representative of imported Sun Briar; Stimulus, of the ever potent Domino line; Sweep's prolific son The Porter, and others equally well known among the sires of candidates for the mile contest in the fall of next year at my Tanforan track.

My idea in instituting the early closing event for the youngsters, without any restrictions as to foaling place, was not only to furnish what promises to be a thrilling spectacle, but to assist in a perfectly reasonable way in the improvement of the kind of runners bred out this way.

Quite a number of the fillies in the Tanforan Futurity will be placed in the breeding paddock after their racing days are over and on account of their blood lines may turn out to be matrons above the ordinary. That's a generalization, of course, and must be qualified by the individuality of any particular filly, the way she is handled in her racing career, and by other things.

Not all of the colts will be retired to the stud when they are through racing and it is not desirable they should. Out of the big band (there are more than 170 eligibles to the race), however, may come a progenitor of sufficient class to rank with the best that ever brought fame to the state for having progeny capable of running anywhere, not in cheap races, either, but in stakes.

back in a few minutes and started to beat her. He knocked the girl off a stool and kicked her out the door, Alaman said, then left with her.

MURDER THREAT

In a few minutes he came back alone and assertedly threatened to kill Rosellini. After heated words, Alaman said, Rosellini went to a rear room and came back with a gun. He shot four times as Angelini backed away and the victim fell halfway on to the sidewalk, his head inside the tavern.

Alaman said Rosellini put the smoking gun back of the bar and walked out. While waiting for the coroner's representative to remove the body, police had difficulty with a crowd of curious revelers who grouped around the entrance.

LIVED HERE SIX YEARS

Angelini had been a Daly City resident for six years. He made his home with a sister and brother in law, Mr. and Mrs. R. Domenichini, 1034 Hanover street. Domenichini owns the shoe repair establishment at 6194 Mission street.

success to the new supervisors at the close of the morning business session, each delivering a short address.

Messrs. Beer and Poole held over as members of the new board, which organized at noon.

Francis "hoped his many friendships in the court house would continue to flourish," and stated:

"I wish my successors the best of luck, and I trust that my successor, Alvin Hatch, with whom I was born and raised in the Half Moon Bay district, and with whom I have had a life-long friendship, will make a good supervisor."

Witt expressed the hope that the new board will continue the fight for (1) completion of the coast road; (2) inclusion of the Peninsula link in San Francisco's initial rapid transit development, and (3) the county's just share of WPA and PWA funds.

One of the major problems before the new administration, Witt declared, is the equalization of the county assessment rolls.

Supervisor High, declared that he hoped his successors would have "many pleasant sessions," and wished them success.

The retiring Burlingame supervisor jocularly remarked that several bouquets of flowers which reposed on his desk "are not for me, but for Supervisor-elect Smith."

The large audience present gave the three retiring officials a thunderous round of applause at the conclusion of their remarks.

speaker of the Assembly by virtually a unanimous vote. Practically all traces of organized opposition to Jones vanished during a heated caucus of Republican assemblymen over the week end.

Asserting the "welfare of the people should be placed above partisan politics," GOP members of the lower house agreed to refrain from entering a speakership candidate.

Lawmakers have commenced their tedious task of introducing bills while awaiting Governor Frank F. Merriam's budget presentation.

ECONOMY DEMANDED

The governor has steadfastly refused to allow any increase in the general fund budget, declaring the state was able to get along on $431,000,000 during the past two years and should continue to do so for the next biennium.

Although the item of relief is not included in Merriam's $431,000,000 general fund figure, it will play an important part in the action of the Legislature.

Merriam estimated relief should not be allowed more than $48,000,000. Harold Pomeroy, state relief administrator, has announced the amount may have to be doubled or even tripled.

Earnings for 1936 represent an increase of 38.3 per cent over the amount earned in 1935, which was $16,276,000. Transamerica Corporation which owns 99.65 per cent of the bank's stock received the bulk of the dividends paid.

LOANS INCREASE

One of the significant features of the operation last year was an expansion of all classes of loans to bring about a net increase of more than $81,067,000. A substantial portion of this increase has been accomplished through instalment loans based on character and monthly income for the purpose of building small homes, purchasing automobiles, labor-saving equipment for the home and for other personal purposes.

In addition there has been a marked expansion in the demand for commercial credits. This has been particularly noticeable during the latter part of the year.

President Giannini says: "It is also significant that Bank of America has further expanded its statewide facilities during the year and has rounded out its organization through the addition of 44 new branches, bringing the total number to 475 branches in 294 California communities. Of these branches nine are operated by the Bank of America (California), the Associated State Bank, with resources of $29,540,000 and earnings for the year of more than $930,000."

The bride was charming in a white lace gown, with a wreath of white flowers with silver centers in her hair. She carried an old fashioned bouquet of white carnations, lilies of the valley and white barvardia.

Mrs. Cecelia Kennedy, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Charles Nelson, a brother, was the groom's best man.

Only the immediate families and a few relatives attended the services, which were followed by a reception given in honor of the bride and groom at the home of the bride's parents, where about one hundred guests were present. Dancing was enjoyed during the evening and a buffet supper served.

After a short honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Chisholm will make their home in San Francisco.

Ball To Be Held At Tanforan Club

Plans for a countywide birthday ball to honor President Roosevelt are now under way. The affair is scheduled to be held at Tanforan Club House on January 30.

Seventy per cent of the proceeds will stay in the county and be turned over to the Board of Supervisors for distribution in the fight against infantile paralysis.

Joseph V. Gaffey of Burlingame, recently appointed general chairman by Henry L. Doherty, chairman of the National Democratic Committee, heads the birthday party sponsors. He announced that mayors of peninsula cities will be named as sub-chairman to rally support of all county residents.

SHIP ABANDONED

While en route over the lonely ice wastes stretching to Nova Zembla the Russian ice-breaker Sibiriyakov was abandoned, Saturday of last week, in the ice-locked Kara Sea. Four salvaging ice-breakers rescued the crew of the Sibiriyakov but were unable to free her.

Doloris Burdick, who was again installed as Oracle, was presented with a gift from the camp.

Those attending were Mesdames Grace Coolish, Doris Burdick, Mattie Smith, Mary Walker, Margaret Orr, Mae Hopkins, Clarise Scott, Johana Hedvall, Anna Plambeck, Lucy Nelson, Emily Twisten, Margaret Rudy, Anna Smith, Cinderella Weller, Katherine Mara, Agnes Wood, Cora Ray, Appleton, Lillie Marshall, A. Caning and Anna Welch.

A new X-Ray machine having sufficient intensity to penetrate four inches of steel is now being used in the Ford Motor Company's new testing laboratory at Dearborn, Michigan. Through its use, flaws less than two per cent of the total thickness are detected.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

They have swung into action at Sacramento.

With past blunders forgotten and a clean slate to write on, a new Legislature full of new hopes and enthusiasm and many new members, rolls up its sleeves and goes to work on California's problems.

Will they botch the session, or make a resounding success of it? The answer to this question rests on nothing new. It depends on the same old fundamental that has faced every legislative gathering since the Senate of ancient Rome first convened.

Let them listen for the voice of the people. Let them hear it and obey its bidding.

Seldom is the people's voice among the loudest ones. The loudest are usually those of pressure groups. More often than not the people's is nothing more than the still small voice of the lawmaker's conscience.

But fortunately this year, on several important matters, California's legislators have the emphatic roar of the people's voice still echoing in their ears. Just last November millions of voters expressed their opinion on state matters ranging from liquor control to art museums, and including civil service, chain store taxes and registration laws.

Some of these will again face the lawmakers. It is plainly their duty to analyze how the vote went and why, and to act accordingly. Not often do they have such a clear-cut expression of the popular will.

On other problems it may be more difficult, but it is seldom impossible for a conscientious representative to know how the majority feels. If it were, our democracy would not have survived and flourished.

This new Legislature can turn deaf ears to pressure groups and listen for the voice of the people. Will it? At least we can hope.

ABOUT OUR FUTURE

California's population will double within ten years.

Who says so? Well, it was the dean of California officials, oldest in years and consecutive terms of service, voicing his views, the other day, on our future. He is Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan.

"Californians have reason to be happy," he said. "Great water projects will bring into profitable production millions of acres. Industry is humming... In thousands of homes those who labor are smiling. At this time let's forget the past. Prosperity invites."

Now the idea of a doubled population within ten years may sound, to many, like a dream too optimistic. But it is nevertheless not altogether beyond the bounds of reason.

Today the best estimates say there are 6,790,000 people in this state. That means an increase of 1,112,749 in the past six years. True, these figures don't seem to prophesy 13,580,000 by 1947. True, also, that the declining national birth-rate is expected to halt the nation's rise in population by 1960. But the figures don't count California's great potentialities for expansion which, with returning prosperity, may attract more millions from other states than most of us foresee.

Secretary Jordan could be right.

WHY WORRY?

Everyone ought to make a resolution not to worry, during 1937, about anything. For there is nothing that will torture a man quite so intensely, or wear him down quite so thoroughly, as worry.

If men didn't worry they could enjoy what they already have. If they didn't worry they could step out with minds free of phantasms and go after the things they need to bring them more happiness.

And yet, as life grows more complex, men are worrying more. A recent survey disclosed that, in the past decade, admittance to hospitals for nervous and mental diseases—to which worry is the chief contributor—increased from 47.8 to 53.3 per 100,000 population.

What have most men to worry about, anyway?

You're not making enough money, you say? Or you're not developing into the big shot you once dreamed you might become? Or perhaps you're perplexed as to what life is all about.

But are these troubles so hopeless after all?

A man usually knows how he can make more money, if he'd only put into play a few of the better thoughts he's had. As for the dreams of great accomplishment, it's often comforting to remember that every man who ever breathed has fancied himself in the high places. And as for life itself—well, who does know anything about it, really?

And then there's this question: What has anyone ever gotten out of worry besides a one-way ticket to a nerve specialist?

The secret of the happy man is that he saves the mental energy that worry would consume—saves it for doing his best on actual problems as they arise.

Alaska Highways Lead to Increase In Motor Vehicles

Although most persons would expect an annual increase in the number of dog-teams in Alaska, the fact that there has been a substantial increase in the number of motor vehicles in the territory may be surprising to some.

There were 502 more automobiles—pleasure cars and trucks included—licensed in 1936 than in 1935, according to the annual report of the territorial treasurer.

3369 VEHICLES LISTED

This raised the total number of pleasure cars in use in Alaska to 2435 and the number of trucks to 927—3362 cars in all.

Juneau led all other territorial cities with 215 trucks and 557 pleasure cars. Fairbanks, in the interior, was second with 166 trucks and 408 pleasure cars. Ketchikan, first Alaskan port of entry, was third with 136 trucks and 377 pleasure cars, while Anchorage, to the westward, was fourth, boasting 108 trucks and 332 pleasure vehicles.

Reason for this increase is interpreted here as reflecting improved economic conditions, as well as a response to additional automobile highways being constructed by the federal government and the territory.

HIGHWAY COMPLETED

For several years there were only three cities in the whole territory of more than 500,000 square miles that were connected by road. These were Valdez, Fairbanks, and Circle over the 370-mile Richardson highway.

In September of this year the new 86-mile Fairbanks-Livengood highway was completed, and earlier the 40-mile Anchorage-Palmer (Mata-nuska valley) road was finished, giving greater inter-community motorcar connection. One reason for Juneau's topping the list was seen as due to completion of the Juneau-Douglas bridge late in 1935. There is also a good stretch of road out to the colorful Mendenhall glacier.

There are 26 population centers in Alaska where there are automobiles today.

HARD STEERING

Difficult steering is sometimes caused by rear wheels that are not tracking properly with the front wheels. The usual causes of such misalignment are bent rear housing, broken spring leaf, or bent frame.

Will Remain In Hospital Ten Days

Eugene O'Neill

Eugene O'Neill, American playwright, had recovered sufficiently from an appendectomy operation in Merritt Hospital, Oakland, yesterday to outline the plot of a new play.

Dr. Charles A. Dukes, physician for O'Neill, said the famous dramatist was propped up in his hospital bed, writing a play based on his hospital experiences while convalescing.

His wife, the former Carlotta Monterey, noted actress, is regaining strength in the same institution after an influenza attack.

It is stated, it will be necessary for both patients to spend at least ten more days recuperating at the hospital.

Ford Motor Company Sets High '37 Goal

The Ford Motor Company has set the greatest truck and commercial car goal in its history for 1937, according to the commercial supervisor at the Richmond plant. The supervisor has just returned from a meeting held at the home office in Dearborn, Michigan, at which the sales program for 1937 was discussed. Introduction of the 60-horsepower

V-8 engine along with the improved 85-horsepower V-8 engine, has greatly extended the field for Ford V-8 trucks and commercial cars.

With these two engines, trucks and commercial units may be powered to the job, the 85-horsepower engine for high speeds or heavy duty and the 60-horsepower engine for light delivery service. Improved appearance is another feature of the 1937 line.

First reports indicate that the performance and economy of the new 60-horsepower engine are up to expectations. Numerous users of commercial cars equipped with the smaller engine report 25 miles to the gallon in routine delivery service.

Lutgens is State Director of Institutions and a director of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District.

Brown, the new owner, for a number of years published the Herald at Sanger.

Ownership was transferred Monday of this week.

MASSES OF NATION ARE NOW AT HELM

By J. W. MARCHBANK
Pioneer in Frontier Mining Work

In a magazine not long ago Sean O'Faolain had something to say that covers the present economic situation perfectly in the United States although he was writing about conditions in a European country some time back. He is well worth quoting, word for word:

"The human dignity of men is always impaired when they are depending on other people who can make or break them.

"They are not men.
"They are servants; that's the whole of it."

The essence of the scheme operative in our own country for a number of years is found in the one word dependence. Webster gives as the primary definition of the word:

"The state of hanging from a support."

Now that we are beginning to have some independence under a changed order we do not have to be in that extremely uncomfortable position denoted by the word hanging. The economic royalists, as Franklin Roosevelt calls the men who were in control for such a long time, or malefactors of great wealth, as they were even more picturesquely described by the late Theodore Roosevelt, fifth cousin of the President, do not like the change a little bit, as is shown by the explosions of more than one of the writers who have for years been thriving on whatever crumbs fell from the table of Dives—in their direction.

Only the other day a man apparently attached firmly to the theory that an oligarchy is an ideal form of government let out a few sour words against the change brought about by President Roosevelt. He has to admit, however, that the public is coming in its own and that the oligarchs are on the way out; he sees plainly enough the handwriting on the wall signifying the return of a true democracy. It is especially pointed out that the decisions of the National Labor Relations Board makes it necessary for frankness to run in all the relations of capital and labor. Reluctantly enough the writer, whose financial articles appear in many newspapers, says subterfuges will avail no longer. As the President has desired for some time the two parties in production will work out a plan mutually acceptable to both but above all one that will be for the benefit of the public.

It is expected President Roosevelt will ask Congress, now in session, to continue indefinitely the $2,000,000,000 currency stabilization fund and executive authority to devalue gold content of the dollar. The present laws expire January 31. The continuation of the legislation is called for mainly on account of the disturbed conditions in Europe. In the event of hostilities on the other side of the Atlantic it is likely an immense sum in foreign credits will be drawn upon to finance the war, so drastic steps are necessary in this country to keep recovery, earned at such a high price to all, from being torn to pieces.

All of which leads to the conclusion that agriculture and mining are the basis of health and wealth, too, for the whole nation. Only the other day I ran across a paragraph in "Boy Woodburn," probably the greatest race horse novel ever written, in which Alfred Ollivant has one of his characters, the Duke, say:

"There's only one thing an honest man can do, that's land. Everything else you get dirty over. I'm not over-clean myself, but I'm not as dirty as some of 'em."

If we place reliance in these upside-down times on the farmer and the miner we cannot go far wrong.

Attach License Plates Securely

Motorists are required by law to fix license plates securely on the car. Plates must be fastened so as to prevent swinging and at a distance of not less than sixteen inches from the ground. They must be in a position where they can be readily seen and must be kept clean and in condition to be easily readable.

EXPERIENCED HOUSEWIFE CLUB

(By Maude Larue Ives)

A hearty dinner, all in one dish, is submitted by Mrs. George Woodside, 73 Bruno avenue, Daly City. It reads as follows:

VEGETABLE DINNER

Peel and prepare Irish potatoes, turnips, carrots, beets and several large onions. Fill baking pan, season with salt and pepper, pour olive oil over whole and add one can tomato sauce. Bake until vegetables are tender. This makes a fine meal for persons on a no meat diet.

RICE AND RAISIN PUDDING

(From The Farmer's Wife)

One-half cup of rice, well washed, two-thirds of a cup of seeded raisins, one teaspoon salt, one quart milk. Steam one hour, stirring occasionally. Then take from the stove and add the yolks of four beaten eggs with five tablespoons of sugar. Mix well. Beat the whites stiff, add seven tablespoons sugar. Pour over top of pudding, place in the oven for fifteen minutes, when the meringue should be a light brown.

SUGGESTIONS

(From The Farmer's Wife)

A little vinegar kept boiling on the stove while cabbage, onions or cauliflower are being cooked, will prevent the odor from these vegetables escaping through the house.

LEMON PIE

(From The Farmer's Wife)

To the juice and grated rind of one lemon add one pint of cold water, a piece of butter the size of an egg and one cup of sugar; when this boils add the beaten yolks of two eggs and two tablespoons of corn starch which has been moistened with cold water. Bake the crust, then turn in the filling, cover with a meringue made of the reserved whites beaten stiffly with one-half teaspoon baking powder. Lastly add three tablespoons sugar. Bake to a rich brown in a 375 degree oven for about fifteen minutes.

CAUSE SHIMMYING

Low air pressure in tires, defective shock absorbers, front wheels out of balance, or springs that are too flexible are some of the causes of shimmying at high speed.

Lesson Sermon Of Christian Science

In all Christian Science churches, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., a Lesson-Sermon will be read Sunday, January 10, on the subject "Sacrament."

The Golden Text will be: "Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies" (Psalms 23: 5). Bible selections will include the following passage from Luke 22: 17-19: "And he took the cup, and gave thanks, and said, Take this, and divide it among yourselves: For I say unto you I will not drink of the fruit of the vine, until the kingdom of God shall come. And he took bread, and gave thanks, and brake it, and gave unto them, saying, This is my body which is given for you: this do in remembrance of me."

Passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included, which read as follows: "The disciples had eaten, yet Jesus prayed and gave them bread. . . . Jesus prayed; he withdrew from the material senses to refresh his heart with brighter, with spiritual views" (p. 32).

Improved License Service To Motorist

One million San Francisco motorists will wend their way to 160 Van Ness avenue south, San Francisco, the new building of the Division of Registration, Department of Motor Vehicles, for their 1937 automobile license plates. Here greatly improved and modernized facilities and equipment have been installed for the convenience of the applicants for registration of motor vehicles.

Personal checks cannot be accepted as payment for these fees due to the tremendous volume of business transacted which, in 1936, often totaled over 6000 applications daily. It is requested that fees be paid in cash or by cashier's check, certified checks, post office or express money orders.

Kootenay Belle Gross Production

The Kootenay Belle mine in British Columbia had a gross production of about $275,000 last year.

Under process of tuning up for the increased scale of operation, Kootenay Belle's new cyanide plant will be stepped up to its capacity of 125 tons as soon as alterations at the mine, to accommodate the new tonnage, are completed.

An addition to be made to the mill is the installation shortly of auxiliary power shutdown. One of the three compressors, situated opposite the mill, will be replaced by a larger machine to accommodate increased development and mining. Compressors are at present producing 1100 cubic feet of air.

The new mill-site camp, stretching along the Sheep Creek road and housing most of the crew of 77 men, is the latest thing in camp accommodation.

Post Card Helps Quick Fee Service

San Francisco motor vehicle owners have taken to the 1937 post card notice of fees with a will. Practically everyone of the several thousand applicants who called at 160 Van Ness avenue south, the San Francisco branch, for 1937 renewal of registration, presented the post card sent out under the orders of the director of the Department of Motor Vehicles. During this renewal, the hours of the San Francisco branch will be from nine in the morning till five in the evening every day of the week, except Sunday. It is believed that the use of the post cards will make the task of registering vehicles so much simpler that within these hours entirely satisfactory service can be given to the motor vehicle owners.

WEAVING CAUSE

When a car has a tendency to wander or weave instead of holding to a steady course it is probably caused by incorrect toe-in or improper position of the front axle. Either cause can be readily corrected by a competent mechanic.

Congress Demanded To Militarize CCC

A demand to convert the Civilian Conservation Corps into a mighty reserve army of 350,000 well equipped and military trained young men will be made of the incoming Congress, it was disclosed this week.

Militarization of the Conservation Corps would give the United States the most formidable peace time fighting force this country has ever known.

Although the proposal is expected to be bitterly opposed by pacifistic organizations, its proponents are prepared to fight to the finish to force its adoption, they said.

REPUBLIC GOLD CAMP REVIVAL TO 40 YEARS AGO

New Mill Buildings And Electric Lines Are Being Rushed To Completion In District

Sidney Norman, versatile mining editor of the Vancouver Sun, thus reviews a report on famous workings:

Andrew G. Larson, M. E., returned recently from a trip to the interior camps of the province and to Republic, across the international line in Ferry County, where he says a distinct revival is taking place, with mill building and electric lines being built under high pressure.

These developments, after a seldom-disturbed sleep of a quarter of a century, take thoughts of old-timers back to the exciting days when Spokane enjoyed the one and only lode gold boom of its history.

Discovery of the Republic mine, developed to the dividend stage by the late Patrick Clark and his brothers Jim and Denny Clark of that city, closely followed opening of the south half of the Colville Indian Reservation in 1896, a memorable rush of embattled and encamped adventurers occurring when word was flashed from Washington, relayed by runners from Spokane and heralded by pre-arranged gun shots.

For several years after discovery the boom persisted, reaching its peak in 1899, when the Republic mine was sold to McCuaig, Rykert & Company interests of Montreal, for $3,500,000.

MILLING PLANT FAILED

A large milling plant was built under direction of D. C. Jackling, who later became one of the great copper kings of the United States through development of Utah Copper, but the patent Jackling roasting furnaces incorporated in the process failed through increasingly high silver content of the ores and gradually interest waned until the camp was practically deserted.

Taxes accumulated and eventually most of the promising properties, including Republic, were taken in by the county and for ten or fifteen years the great silence reigned, punctuated by an occasional effort to revive this or that property.

WELL-KNOWN PROPERTIES

Among the properties that will be remembered by those who took part in the boom were Republic, Jim Blaine, Quilp, Lone Pine, Surprise, Insurgent, Last Chance, Pearl, Kuob Hill, Rebate, Mountain Lion, Morning Glory, Golden Harvest, Princess Maud, Butte & Boston, Ben Hur and San Poil.

Around 1912 the Lone Pine-Surprise group was taken over by J. L. Harper, who struck a nice body of ore, made some heavy shipments and paid a dividend or two.

His company later got into serious financial difficulties and passed into the bankruptcy court.

The writer then interested Chicago capital in the venture and, after a thorough examination by Harry Barlow, E. M., made an offer of $150,000 for the mine, with the intention of sinking a deep shaft to the east of the main east vein system and bringing in electric power from Cascade City.

BOUGHT BY DAYS

The offer was exceeded slightly by representatives of the Day family, of the Coeur d'Alenes, and passed into its hands in 1916. Since then the property has been worked spasmodically, but was deprived of its only market for silicious ores when Trail smelter refused consignments.

The old camp has now entered on the milling and electric power stage, which should have arrived many years ago, and it is quite possible there will soon occur an excitement to compare with that of nearly 40 years ago, although it will doubtless be of more orderly nature. Adequate capital is now available in several instances and the increased price of gold renders the outlook most encouraging.

POTENTIALLY GREAT CAMP

There are many competent authorities who cling to the belief that Republic is potentially the leading gold lode camp of the Northwest and that, given proper financing and management, it will yet leave its mark of big success.

Average value of crude ores shipped from the camp in the past probably ran around $12.50 per ton, with some occasional very high grade ore bodies, especially in the Republic mine. Milling results of the past were not successful, owing largely to heavy cost of steam power generated by cordwood and inefficient recoveries, saving in several cases being less than one half of values.

FAMOUS APEX SUIT

Republic in earlier days furnished one of the most celebrated "apex" lawsuits in the history of the West, between Lone Pine Surprise group and Last Chance.

It was tried before the late Judge Rudkin and brought to Spokane many of the famous engineers of the

P. T. A. Discusses Spring Activities

The Executive Board meeting of the Jefferson Union High School P. T. A. was held Wednesday evening of this week at the home of the president, Mrs. Stella Jensen. Mrs. Mary Crane was co-hostess. Sixteen members enjoyed the delicious luncheon provided by the hostess.

Mrs. Edith Barker presented the theme "Forcefulness," fifth in the series of study topics featured by the board.

Final arrangements were made for the regular meeting January 19, at which time Dr. Claude A. Shull will speak on "The Relation of Moving Pictures to Education."

Publicity for the operetta to be given January 29 was discussed.

Plans were made for the Founders Day program and parts in the play were assigned.

Arrangements were made for a proposed "pillowcase" whist.

W. P. A. WORKER WINS PRESIDENTIAL SWEEPSTAKES

V. C. Winters, regional manager for the Studebaker Pacific Corporation, and Harvey Stowers, factory official, are presenting Houston W. Glasgow, W. P. A. worker of Los Angeles, with keys to his new 1937 Studebaker President sedan which he won in Studebaker's Presidential Sweepstakes Contest. Glasgow with his wife and three children pose for a picture with their neighbors and the prize sedan.

Houston Glasgow, WPA worker of Los Angeles, was assured that there is a Santa Claus, on December 21, when he heard his name read on Studebaker's radio broadcast as winner of a brand new 1937 Studebaker President sedan for making the best forecast in Studebaker's Presidential Sweepstakes contest.

Officially presented with his new President sedan the day before Christmas by V. C. Winters, regional manager for the Studebaker Pacific Corporation, Glasgow said, "I knew my guess was close, but I can't believe that such good fortune would come to us."

A good guesser is Glasgow. His forecast came closer to the total number of popular votes cast for Franklin D. Roosevelt than any of the thousands of contestants. All five winners of Studebaker President sedans in this contest made estimates within 1200 of the actual vote, but Glasgow's accuracy was phenomenal. With 27,753,309 votes cast, his deviation from the actual figure was less than one half of one thousandth of one per cent.

Glasgow, 50 years of age and a former employee of the Indianapolis News, resides in Los Angeles with his wife and three children. He now is engaged as a WPA worker in the bicycle registration division of the police department.

When asked how he happened to come so close in estimating the vote, he said: "Mrs. Glasgow and I collaborated on this guess. We based our forecast on the results of previous elections furnished by our local Studebaker dealer and then added about three million votes to the highest previous popular vote for any one presidential candidate."

Is Recovering From Operation

Mrs. E. Gardella of Whittier street, who was stricken with an acute attack of appendicitis, Christmas Day, while she was entertaining 16 guests at a family reunion dinner, is making rapid strides to good health.

Mrs. Gardella was operated on immediately on her arrival at Franklin Hospital.

February	76,100.00
March	118,385.00
April	159,545.00
May	112,149.00

The revised and completed report made by the county building inspector shows that total number of permits issued by him during the year just passed was 379, and that of these 268 were for the erection of residence buildings.

January of last year held a low place in construction totals, but it is expected some heavy operations, particularly in apartment house building, will raise the figure for this month high above normal.

MUSIC PROJECT OF WPA STAGES BETTER WORKS

Plans For 1937 Indicate Wide Panorama Of Musical Activity

A wide panorama of musical activity is glimpsed in plans for 1937 announced by the supervisor of the San Francisco Federal Music Project.

New works to be given first performances include "Theme, with variations and fugue" by the Danish pianist-composer Gunnar Johansen; Symphony No. 3 by Ben Bauer, assistant conductor of the project's symphony orchestra; "Concert Piece" (suite) by Raich Stoll, supervisor of the dance band; and two short works by Frederick Preston Search, conductor of the concert band: "Flurries," scherzo for full orchestra, and "Romanza," for strings.

First in a series of choral masterpieces to be presented by the chorus under the direction of Giulio Silva will be Verdi's "Requiem" with four soloists, full chorus and orchestra. The work will be sung in Latin and will be given its first San Francisco presentation in more than a decade.

Other plans center on the establishment here of a "musical theater" offering both original musical plays and such other fare as Donizetti's "Don Pasquale" and the Gilbert & Sullivan "Pirates of Penzance."

CRASHES IN PLANE

The Spanish ambassador to Mexico, Felix Cordon Ordas, escaped injury Saturday of last week, when the plane in which he was en route to Washington nosed over and was damaged slightly in landing at the Brownsville airport, Texas.

The mishap delayed Ordas' journey to Washington, D. C.

"That" said the native proudly, "is Jonathan Bell, native of Squash Center, and the man who has aroused more people than any other man in the country."

"You don't mean to tell me that quiet looking man is some great Communist or radical, do you?" inquired the stranger.

"Not at all," was the reply. "He is a retired alarm clock manufacturer."

State Aids Road Building On Coast

For the new link in the coast road in San Mateo and Santa Cruz Counties, funds amounting to $180,000 are provided in the California biennial highway budget totaling $73,700,000 for the 1937-39 biennium, it was announced this week by the state commission.

The new section of the coast road will be eight miles in length and calls for grading, surfacing and construction of a bridge, according to press advices from Sacramento. The road will run from Davenport to the northern boundary of Santa Cruz County.

The entire new project will be located in Santa Cruz, but the highway will be part of the new coast road, being constructed in sections as additional funds are forthcoming.

The Skyline to Edgemar link was completed in San Mateo County recently and at present 6.7 miles are now in the process of construction from Rockaway over Pedro Mountain, south.

from Alaska. This procession will pick up delegations mobilized in Washington and Oregon and northern California.

The cavalcade from Mexico would also start out with invited dignitaries, entertainers, singers and dancers in costume and will pick up other units from southern and central California en route.

MEET ON APPROACH

The two cavalcades will be so timed as to converge at Waldo Point in Marin County and there participate in the official dedication of the Waldo approach. These cavalcades would also take part in other events on the fiesta program.

Consideration will be given later to the possibility of mobilizing another cavalcade from Nevada, Arizona, New Mexico and other western states via historic routings with a pioneer western background as the theme.

Preliminary plans for the fiesta are rapidly being whipped into shape, and working committees to carry out the multitudinous details will be appointed immediately after New Year.

year at a cost of more than $1,000,000,000 imperiled economy plans of congressional leaders.

DOUBT SAVINGS

While President Roosevelt has made known he is driving for a balanced budget and there will be an "economy bloc" in Senate and House, leaders were frankly doubtful that huge sums can be saved in the seventy-fifth Congress.

Projects authorized in the last session, for which funds are expected to be appropriated in the new session, include:

Flood control projects totaling $659,000,000, to be spread over several years.

Two year federal road program at authorized cost of $476,000,000.

Rural electrification, $40,000,000 a year. Partly appropriated for at last session.

Vocational education and rehabilitation, $15,000,000, an increase.

FOR ALAMEDA BASE

Air base, Alameda, $15,000,000. Frontier aviation bases, $100,000,000.

Increased army air strength, $50,000,000.

Blue Ridge parkway, $15,000,000.

Merchant marine, blanket authorization.

While the last session appropriated $10,800,000,000, this included more than $2,000,000,000 for the soldiers' bonus and other non-recurring expenditures totaling $400,000,000 more. The actual figure for the fiscal year ending June 30 was $7,673,000,000.

DEMOCRATIC MAJORITY

A comparison of the old and new Senate shows these totals:

New Congress—Democrats 76, Republicans 16, Farm-Labor 2, Progressive 1, Independent 1; total 96.

Old Congress—Democrats 69, Republicans 25, Farm-Labor 1, Progressive 1; total 96.

ONE VACANCY EXISTS

Lineup in the House is 332 Democrats, 89 Republicans, 5 Farm-Laborites and 8 Progressives. There was one vacancy because of the death in early December of Rep. Glover H. Cary (D., Ky.), chairman of the appropriations sub-committee for the navy.

Here are the standings compared with the seventy-fourth Congress.

New Congress—Democrats 332, Republicans 89, Progressives 8, Farm-Labor 5; total 434.

Old Congress—Democrats 322, Republicans 103, Progressives 7, Farm-Labor 3; total 435.

House leaders agreed to seat a New Hampshire Republican whose election had been in doubt.

Members, new and old, streamed into the capital during the last three weeks. Almost all will be present for the opening session.

NEW COUNTY SUPERVISORS TAKE OFFICE

ORGANIZE NEW COUNTY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS

Considerable Talk Of Harmony Indulged In After Sending Word To County Executive He Will Not Be Re-Employed and with all other county officials. A number of citizens in the audience also delivered short talks, wishing the new board a successful and harmonious tenure in office.

The resolution of intention not to reappoint Kellogg as executive, prepared by the district attorney's office for the new board, was offered by Supervisor James, who moved its adoption. The vote was unanimous.

The board's notice was to be served on Kellogg by County Clerk E. B. Hinman the same afternoon.

No formal applications for the $6000-a-year post have been made. Several prominent names have been mentioned as probable candidates. They are former Assemblyman Fred Peterson, former City Manager E. A. Rolison, of Redwood City, City Manager E. P. Wilsey of San Mateo, and City Manager Hollis Thompson of Berkeley.

Gilbert Keitle, head of the Peninsula Chambers of Commerce rapid transit committee was authorized to contact the San Francisco supervisors and make a date for a meeting of the two boards either Thursday or Friday. Keitle, a San Matean, appeared to call attention of the board to the fact that the Bay City supervisors are about to make a decision on rapid transit, and that it is all-important that a peninsula link be included in any rapid transit solution.

WEDNESDAY MEETING

Continuing to vote unanimously on all matters before them, the newly seated county board of supervisors appointed Alvin Hatch and James S. James commissioners of joint highway districts in a 15-minute meeting Wednesday morning of this week and then adjourned for a conference that lasted until after noon.

Hatch was elected to the commission of district No. 9, succeeding the former board chairman, Manuel Francis, while James will replace Albert Witt Jr. of Colma on highway district No. 10. Hatch will attend a meeting of his commission today at 3 p. m. in San Francisco.

Only other business requiring a vote was a resolution adopted by the board endorsing the application of the Peninsula Newspapers, Inc., owner of the Tribune, for a permit to construct a broadcasting station off the Bayshore highway north of Redwood City. The corporation has applied to the Federal Communications Commission in Washington for such a permit.

CONFERENCE

In a conference held by supervisors

after the short open session these points developed:

1. Following a discussion with Comptroller Edward Stack, the supervisors announced that Stack would offer his recommendation to them Monday of next week, for bringing the county's auditing system up to date.

2. The board, finding that it was not possible to schedule a meeting today with the San Francisco supervisors to discuss rapid transit, asked the San Franciscans, through Planning Advisor Ronald Campbell, to set a date for a meeting. The meeting contemplated for the end of this week was disrupted by need of several of the San Francisco supervisors attending a state highway commission session, Campbell said.

3. The supervisors began consideration of county personnel, taking up first the planning commission. Terms of Charles Meinert of North Fair Oaks and Victor Boido of South San Francisco have expired. Chairman Hugh H. Smith said both would be contacted to determine whether they would continue on the commission.
